

SFSA Schumo Foundation Scholarship

Recruiting students to join our industry and grow into leadership positions remains a critical need in the steel casting industry and a strategic initiative of the Society. SFSA remains devoted to helping members by encouraging companies to hire student interns. We want to recognize these student interns at our SFSA T&O Conference.

The Schumo Foundation scholarship program awards $1,000 scholarships to selected interns that have worked at a SFSA member foundry during 2018 on a particular project. The scholarships are competitive; each applicant is required to submit a paper and PowerPoint presentation on a particular project they have completed during their employment.

The papers will be judged on the value of the work and the quality of the written paper. The intern should be responsible for a particular project and not simply used as an extra pair of hands during their employment with the company. Papers will be judged by the SFSA Scholarship Selection Committee. Committee members are individuals who have held both technical and operating positions and who have served within other SFSA committees. All papers and presentations are to be sent to the Research Manager, SFSA (Diana David ddavid@sfsa.org).

The winners of the scholarships will present their papers at the SFSA National T&O Conference in Chicago on December 6, 2018.

The schedule for candidates competing for the scholarships will be:

7/02/18 Registration of intern candidate by completion of Intern Registration Form.

9/17/18 Submission of paper and power point presentation to SFSA Research Manager.

10/08/18 Completion of review and recommendation of winners by selection committee.
